

Children's Writing Competition

Great Prizes and a Chance to Participate in Animal Advocacy

Happy Tails Books, publisher of books that support animal rescue and advocacy, is inviting children ages 8-16 to submit short stories, essays, poems, and artwork depicting all of the wonderful reasons they love their adopted pets. This is a great opportunity for children to participate in animal advocacy, win great prizes, and get their work published (the best entries will be published in a book). Click on the green writing contest link at <http://happytailsbooks.com> for more details.

Deadline: June 15th, 2010

Type of submissions: Short stories, essays, poems, artwork

Age Divisions: 8-12 years old, 13-16 years old

Prizes: 1st place in each division receives $50, 2nd gets $25, top 5 in each category receive t-shirts. Everyone will receive bookmarks.

Entry Fee: $10 suggested donation

How to Enter: Enter at <http://happytailsbooks.com/contest.htm>

Winner Announcements: July 2010

Publication Date: "I Love Buddy", full of the best children's works about their adopted pets, will be published by September 2010.

About Happy Tails Books:

Happy Tails Books™ publishes breed-specific compilations of stories about rescued dogs. These thought-provoking books are meant to entertain pet lovers, raise awareness about pet adoption, and highlight typical breed characteristics. They provide a venue for proud owners to showcase their adopted pets and generate funding for rescue groups through the donation of a significant portion of each sale.